EXT. Winding backroad - Night

Birds eye pan. Sirens sound. A car is totaled on the road. A teenage male lies on the ground, unconscious. Surrounding the accident are emergency vehicles. Emergency responders converse as background noise.

CUT TO:

POLICE OFFICER 1, stands stone-faced over the body on the ground, casually filling out a report on a clipboard.

CUT TO:

Front view of another police car pulling up to the scene.

CUT TO:

Police officer 1 looks up at the car (which is behind the camera), squinting at the headlights before they turn off.

CUT TO:

Police officer 2, after getting out of the patrol vehicle, grimaces as he approaches Officer 1, staring at the body on the ground

Police officer 2
What caused the accident?

Police officer 1 finishes what he's writing and clicks pen folding the clipboard under his arms.

Police officer 1
Just another case of distracted driving.

Police officer 2 sighs and shakes head

Police officer 2
It's a shame. Can I see-?

Officer 2 motions to the clipboard Officer 1 is holding. 1 hands the clipboard to 2. 2 reads over the report.

Police officer 2
Just the one casualty?

Police officer 1
Just the one. Male, in his teens, severe head trauma and blood loss resulted in death.

Police officer 2
I can't even imagine what I would do if that were my kid.

A text notification from a nearby cell phone sounds and both officers look up in the direction the noise came from.

The officers look at each other, officer 1 shakes his head, dismissing the sound, while officer 2 looks off again into the distance.

CUT TO:

Shot of phone lying on the ground covered in blood and surrounded by shattered glass. A text notification displays on screen from the contact 'Mom'. The text reads: "Did you get home safe?"
