It was Friday, October 21st and I had just gotten out of lacrosse. I was getting in my car to head home. I sat down in the car turned it on and started to leave. As I was leaving I got a text from my dad. (1. I could check it while driving. 2. Could wait till I come to a stop) I decided to check it when I got to a stop sign just to make sure that it was nothing important. He was telling me that they were really under staffed and they needed me to come in for a little. I was not thrilled about this so I (1. Left it and waited till I got home to reply. 2. texted back while I was driving.) waited till I got home to answer so maybe he would have already gotten someone else to help out. I texted him back and he said he had already got someone, but he wanted me to go to his house for dinner. So I took my shower and proceeded to go to his house for dinner. He texted me on my way over and I decided (1. look at it while driving. 2. wait till I got to his house to check it.) I decided to wait till I got to his house to check it and got on with my car ride.

As I was leaving I got a text from my dad. (1. I could check while I was driving. 2. Wait till I come to a stop) I checked it while I was driving. I looked up and I was going into the other lane. Thankfully there were no cars coming my way. He was telling me that he wanted me to come in and work because there wasn't enough people working. (1. I could text him back 2. Could wait till I came to a stop) I texted him back and told him that I couldn't because I had stuff going on. As I was typing this I could hear my car going into the rumble strip. I got home to take my shower and then proceeded to go to my dad's house for dinner. He texted me to and asked me to get some milk before I got there (1. Text him back 2. Wait till I get to house to talk to him) I texted him back, and the last thing I remember is my car flipping and loud bangs.

Why risk your life while texting and driving. Put the phone down and just wait. We didn;t use to text and drive so lets do the same now.
