

Hey,
I'm sorry.

I never thought it was a big deal
I had looked away for only a few seconds
It was supposed to be simple: A few seconds and I press send
I guess a few seconds lasted more than I could ever imagine

Hey,
I'm sorry

I left the scene with a few scratches
You left with a bit more

Hey,
I'm sorry

Aren't I pathetic?
All I can do is apologize
I've been apologizing a lot now
Seems like it's the only thing I'm good for, or here for

Hey,
I'm sorry

I avoid that route
I avoid that street
It takes me 30 minutes to get home now
Instead of 5
But, you took a completely new route
And I'm all to blame

Hey,
I'm sorry

I promise I'll never do it again
I couldn't if I tried
I can't even get into the driver seat anymore
I start panicking and imagining you
Your blue bike crushed the front right tire of my car
Your small body across the street

Hey,
I'm sorry

I can still hear the sirens coming from a distance
I can still hear your mom screaming and crying
It seems like her face is permanently stained with tears

I did that.

Hey,
I'm sorry

I started a program
It spreads awareness on the dangers of texting and driving
I go to schools around the district and talk about my personal experience
I go to every school and no one seems to take it seriously
Until I show your picture
And tell them I killed you

