"Don't Drink and Drive, Arrive Alive"

No one should have to go because you drank and drove

You should feel the blame of the pain

They're going to be furious but you need to take it in

Blame yourself for your ignorance

No one else can do it for you

I'd be mad too if you killed someone I knew

Someone I loved so dear

But now they aren't near

If you didn't drink and drive

They would have arrived alive

But you drank and drove

And now they feel the pain and you are to blame

They are mad, but they are still so sad

You blame yourself now

But back then you thought it was fun

Now that they are gone

All you can do is pass this message along

You cared about them too

Now they are far

If only you didn't get in that car

They would have made it

Alive and Well

They are now gone forever

So now you must say

Don't drink and drive

And you will Arrive Alive
