TODAY.

Staying safe and Arriving alive
Is more than just a notion.

One minute you have the top down cruising
The next you're causing commotion.

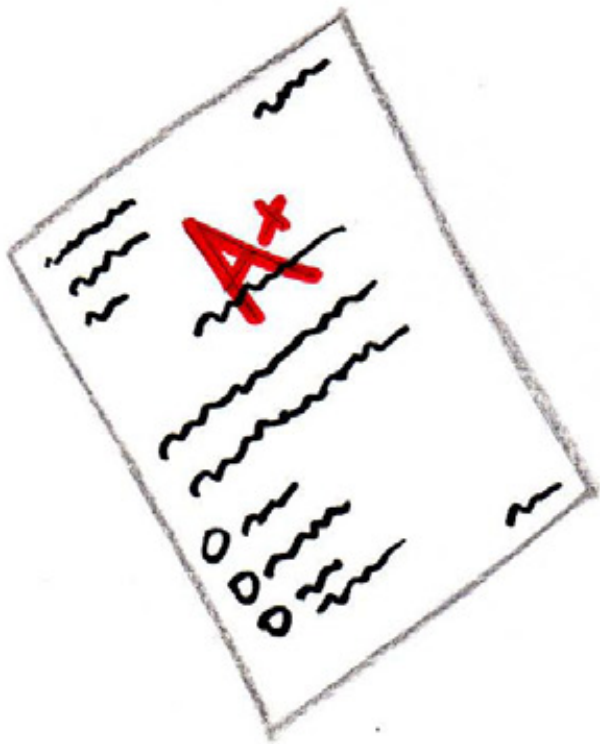

Sunny skies on a Sunday drive
The perfect time to get away.
Ambulance sirens in the left hand lane
Sounding "Arrive Alive Today."

Spring break, prom, passing finals
And then we graduate.

Winning a State Championship
Is another reason to celebrate.

Maybe it's your girlfriend calling
Maybe you've had a drink or two.
Either way, something other than driving
Is distracting you.

The future so bright ahead of you

Your past forever behind.

Nobody will believe what happened

But they will remember for the rest of time

Who knew one little distraction
Would make such a major mess?
Some mistakes you can survive
Some you can't confess.

Life is but a fleeting moment
And in life you can't hit replay.
So my advice to you is to stay safe
And Arrive Alive today.
