Jessie Bennett

Please Arrive Alive

There were flashing lights and metal shards,
scattered across the road.
Sirens ringing, marks of skidding,
an awful episode.
One car off the road was totaled,
the other unrecognizable.
Crumpled metal and shattered glass,
the damage was undeniable.
What could have caused this disaster,
such a horrid tragedy?
Was it a wild moose, a foolish squirrel,
or some other abnormality?
Investigations revealed the answer,
it was all caused by human error.
A couple bad choices turned fatal mistakes,
caused this night of terror.
One driver drunk, another texting,
neither one survived.
An important lesson can be learned:
please arrive alive.