

Distraction

White dotting the blue field,
Stretching as far as can be seen.
Muscles relaxed, easy breathing
Just the breeze and the sky

A chimee across the area,
A glance
At the bright land below.
Sucked in as it encompassed the view
Everything fades
Deceitful beauty
Hiding its true form

Nothing noticed,
Nothing alarmed.

A blinding, numbing view
Shocking as two bright eyes
Begin to descend
Closer and closer
Followed by a loud noise
And darkness encompassing