

"A Quick Glance"

Polina Rempel

A ping ignites the glowing screen,
Eyes jump to meet it, just one quick glance.
The road ahead a silent plea,
"Don't lose your wit, stay safe with me."

Screen magnetizing your eyes
Not knowing where that second went
Friends, dreams, life like a dance,
Slipping away in one quick glance.

Both hands now grip the wheel tight
Your life's worth more than one quick glance.
Remember mother waiting for you
Don't make her fear what silence grew.
Arrive whole and happy, safe, alive.